

Towards the Future: Where should we concentrate transnational efforts during the coming years?

Nick Baillie, Chair of INSIA, National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE),
United Kingdom

MAY 2023

Contents

- ▶ What have we heard today
- ▶ INSIA and support for transnational efforts
- ▶ Getting involved and maintaining momentum

Today

What is INSIA?

- ▶ International Network for Social Intervention Assessment (INSIA)

Our vision is to better people's lives by promoting the use of evidence-informed social care interventions

What are the aims of INSIA?

- ▶ Be at the forefront of social intervention assessment, providing global leadership. We will do this by developing approaches to, and availability of, synthesized research evidence through:
 - ▶ supporting international coordination, cooperation, and collaboration in the production of social intervention assessments and systematic reviews
 - ▶ developing and promoting methodological principles and guidelines for systematic reviews of social interventions
 - ▶ developing and promoting tools and methods to share, translate and adapt systematic reviews of social interventions across different global settings and contexts
 - ▶ promoting evidence-informed decision- and policy making in the field of social welfare.

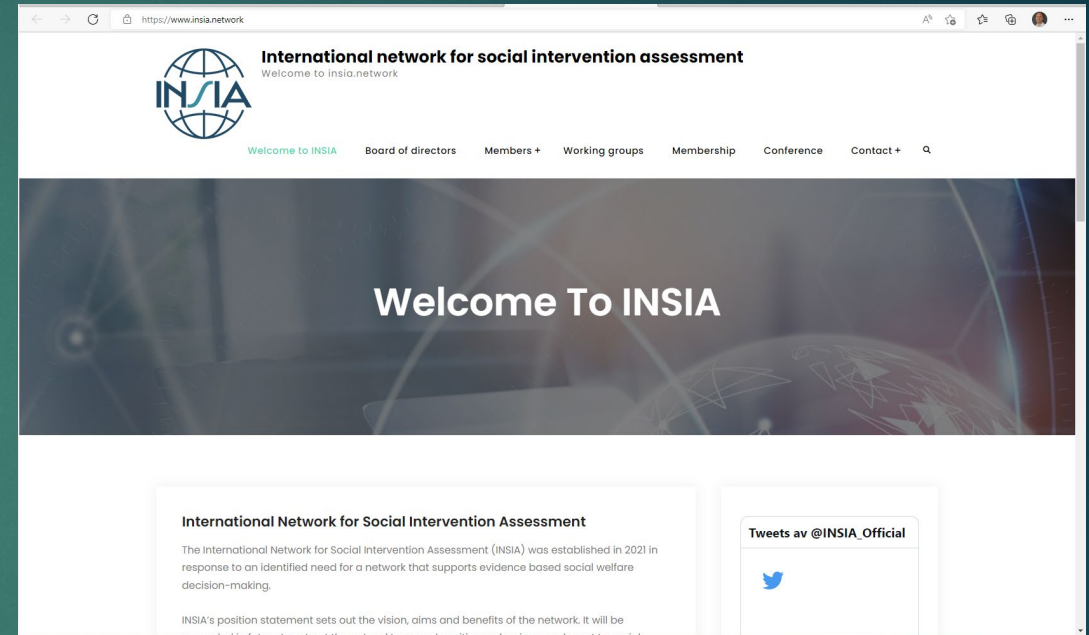

How will we do this?

- ▶ Facilitate contact with SIA leaders and scientific staff around the globe
- ▶ Provide access to workshops, training sessions and webinars to share expertise, and tools for social intervention assessment
- ▶ Provide access to working groups in special interest areas
- ▶ Provide access to a web-based communication service to ask and answer questions about assessments, methods and tools
- ▶ Develop a repository of good practice, tools and methods developed by and available to members of the network
- ▶ Hold a formal annual meeting and quarterly informal meetings to shape the direction of the network
- ▶ Develop future position statements and outputs on the challenges facing members across the globe

How can you get involved?

- ▶ Membership process
- ▶ Website: www.insia.network
- ▶ Email: insia@sbu.se
- ▶ Twitter: @INSIA_Official
- ▶ Open access webinars
- ▶ Annual conference
 - ▶ 2024?

Tack
Takk
Merci
Danke
Thanks